Blood donation camps in collaboration with the Red cross, Khurda were organized each year. As from the last few years the coastal region of the state is regularly facing cyclone nearly every year, students had participated in the relief work in the cyclone affected areas and rendered all types of possible helps to the needy people. The students have also organized cyclone awareness programs in the villages.

The college has organized several literacy programs for the village children imparting free training on computers to the students initiated by the students and managed by the staffs. Providing training on sewing machine operation and promoting the rural people to be self-sufficient.

Social activities enhance and create social awareness and responsibilities in the students. As a result of these involvement in technical activities various types of awareness in the society through the students is observed.
